

COOPER DENIES HE IS TO QUIT

First District Congressman Says He Is In The Senatorial Fight To Stick.

SITUATION SHOWS NO ALTERATION

Deadlock Continues To Absorb The Talk Of The Candidates And Their Followers---Stephenson
Still Hopeful.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 4.—Dispatches from Racine completely deny the story published in a Milwaukee morning paper that Congressman Cooper contemplated withdrawing from the senatorial fight and would throw his strength to Stephenson. The dispatch is as follows:
The Dispatch.
Racine, Wis., May 4.—Congressman Cooper denies he will retire from the senatorship contest. He states he is in no deals and will stick in the contest until Spooner's successor is elected. His wife's illness was the only reason for his leaving Madison when he did.

New Light.
This throws new light on the deadlock and it is no nearer solution now than heretofore. It was figured here that Cooper could not deliver all the votes he has been holding and that the break would mean a rush to other candidates in which Esch would secure the majority, Stephenson a few, and Leavelle a fair sprinkling.

The occasion will be the annual meeting of the Imperial council. The advance guard of visitors has already reached the city and there is an unprecedented demand for accommodations. A sum of nearly $100,000 will be expended for the pleasure of the visitors and nothing will be left undone to contribute to their comfort and entertainment. The meetings of the Shriner's will require less than three days, but the entertainment program will cover the entire week. An electrical parade, consisting of a score of illuminated floats, will be thrice presented, and on the first occasion there will be in line 10,000 Shriner's in evening dress. EMPEROR NAPOLEON'S WIDOW EIGHTY-ONE

Ex-Empress Will Pass Birthday at Riveria Tomorrow—Health
Very Poor.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, May 4.—The ex-Empress Eugenie, who is spending the winter on the Riviera, will be eighty-one years old tomorrow. According to reliable reports the ex-empress is in very poor health and news of her demise at any time would cause no surprise. Born in Granada in 1826—the daughter of a Spanish noble and a Scotch lady—the life-story of Eugenie is one of the most romantic and pathetic of modern times. In her twenty-seventh year she became the wife of Napoleon III, who created a sensation by marrying her in spite of the active and avowed opposition of his ministers. For eighteen years she presided over one of the most brilliant of European courts, and when Sedan made revolution a certainty she found asylum, with the emperor and the prince imperial in England. Three years later Napoleon III died, and the widow, to whom Queen Victoria became greatly attached, devoted herself to the education of the son whom she fondly hoped one day to see wearing the French crown. The tragedy of her life was, however, not yet complete. The young prince, serving as an officer in the British army, was killed in the Zulu war of 1879 and one of the saddest pilgrimages ever undertaken to South Africa was the Empress Eugenie's visit to the spot where her son fell.

CHURCHES TO HONOR MORRISON'S MEMORY

Christian Missionary Work Was Begun in China Just One Hundred Years Ago.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, May 4.—The Christian churches throughout the world will hold tomorrow a Morrison commemorative service in celebration of the centennial of the beginning of Christian missionary work in China. The service takes its name from Robert Morrison, who was the first Protestant Christian missionary to the Chinese empire. Morrison was born in England in 1782, and was sent to Canton, China, in 1807 by the London Missionary society. He founded a college, prepared a Chinese grammar and dictionary, and translated the whole Bible into Chinese. At the time of his arrival in China the Chinese were forbidden to teach the language to foreigners under penalty of death, and no foreigner was permitted to reside in the empire except for purposes of trade. Morrison was obliged to accept the position of translator to the East India company's factory in Canton in order to remain in the city. He received his first Christian convert seven years after his arrival. When Morrison died in 1834 there were only two other Protestant missionaries in China. Now there are about 2500 Protestant missionaries in the Chinese empire and the one convert of 1814 has multiplied to more than 150,000.

IRISH IN SPIRIT BUT INTERNATIONAL IN SCOPE

Thousands Of Erin's Contributions To American Commonwealth Will Be Attracted To Dublin This Summer.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Dublin, May 4.—The Jamestown exposition is not the only affair of its kind to attract world tourists this summer. The Irish International Exhibition, Irish in much of its spirit, but truly international in its scope, was formally opened today with ceremonies suitable to the occasion. The Marquis of Ormonde presided over the opening exercises and all the dignitaries of state and church took part. The scope of the exhibition is Irish and international in the widest sense. There are sections for the display of Irish industries; history and education; fine arts, including photography and engraving; arts and crafts; liberal manufactures, textiles and various allied industries; engineering and shipbuilding; civil engineering and transportation; electricity; motors, gas lighting, heating and cooking; agricultural implements and chemical industries; horticulture and arboriculture; sport and fishing; mining and metallurgy; hygiene; women's section; cottage industries. Outside of the purely business aspects of the exhibition, the amusements of the visitors will be amply catered to. Musical entertainments, vocal and instrumental, of a high class, will be provided. Special concerts devoted to Irish music will be given, and the best instrumental bands of Great Britain have been engaged. Other amusements of a novel character—water chutes, switchback, etc., have been provided. The exposition grounds are at Herbert Park, about a mile and a quarter from the business section of Dublin on the line to Dalkey. The land was recently presented to the Pembroke urban district by the Earl of Pembroke, one of the vice-presidents of the exhibition, in commemoration of his son, Lord Herbert. Altogether the grounds of the exposition cover about fifty-two acres. The buildings are large and ornate, and strictly consonant with the natural beauty of the park and of the beauties of Dublin and of Ireland in general. A lake, fountains and a wealth of shrubs and flowers form a beautiful setting for the magnificent structures. The main entrance to the exhibition is at Ballsbridge, with other entrances on the south side of the park, in the vicinity of Donnybrook. Directly opposite the main entrance is the principal building, with a central octagonal court, 215 feet in diameter, surrounded by a corridor opening into four radial wings, each 164 feet long and 80 feet wide. An octagonal dome towers over the center of this building to the height of 150 feet. Pavilions for the British, foreign and colonial exhibits are grouped around this building, and then logically and artistically come the buildings for the motor cars, electricity, Irish industries, machinery and power house and dining and tea rooms. Indications are already abundant that the exhibition will draw hundreds of thousands of visitors to Ireland for the first time this summer. It is expected too that the fair will form a magnet which will draw thousands of Irish-Americans back to their old homes.

CLINTON ORATOR WON THE DISTRICT MEET

Miss Mildred Murry First in Oratorical Contest Last Evening in Clinton.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Clinton, May 4.—Old Clinton was fairly swarming with high school students Friday who had come here to attend the oratorical contest of the Walworth county league. Fully three hundred pupils from the Delavan, Sharon, Lake Geneva and Walworth high schools were present and their gay shouts and school yells were heard on the streets until midnight. Miss Mildred Murry of Clinton won the first place, Harold Arnold of Sharon second place, Miss Nina Latta of Clinton third place, and Walter Dunwiddie of Delavan fourth place. The judges for the evening were Prof. Stetson of Beloit, Supt. A. H. Sholtz of Evansville and S. M. Smith of Janesville. The successful contestants will go to the district meeting at Whitewater on May 10. Clinton is expected to win the first place in this contest as Miss Murry is considered a young lady of particularly natural ability combined with grace and good stage presence and a fine voice.

Quite a surprise was given Clinton May 1st by A. W. Shepard resigning his position as school director, a position he has held continuously twenty-one years. He has always given the school business very close attention and filled the position with great credit to himself and general satisfaction to the patrons. He is a man of unquestioned honesty and integrity and it was with regret the people learned of his determination to quit the board. The board held a special meeting May 2 and Solon Cooper was chosen to fill the vacancy. No man stands higher in the community than Mr. Cooper and the district is to be congratulated upon being able to secure a man of such sterling worth and no man in our community is a more fitting person to succeed Mr. Shepard.

INCREASES YIELDS OF SUGAR BEETS

Investigations of University of Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment Station Show Effect of Fertilizers.

Madison, Wis., May 4.—That 13,477 pounds of sugar beets were added to the regular yield in one field by a special process of fertilization is one of the interesting facts announced in a bulletin entitled "Sugar Beet Experiments During 1906" about to be published by the University of Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment station. The investigations and experiments upon which the statistics compiled are founded are the work of Professor F. W. Wolf of the department of agricultural chemistry, and Professor C. W. Stoddard of the soils department. The prime purposes of the investigations were to study the adaptability to sugar beet culture of characteristic types of Wisconsin soils, from light, sandy loam to heavy clay; and to determine what system of fertilization will produce best results for factory purposes, taking both the yield and quality of the beets into consideration. Ten farms in four counties of the state were selected, and upon these the experiments were conducted, namely, on four farms near Lancaster, Grant county; on two near Viroqua, Vernon county; on two near Virgona, Vernon county; and on the hill farm of the university experiment station, two miles west of Madison.

Experiments on Ten Farms.
A secondary consideration in the selection of farms for experiment was the fact that they are representative of the districts tributary to the four sugar factories of the state,—at Madison, Janesville, Menominee Falls, and Chippewa Falls. Each of these has a capacity of nearly 1,000 tons a day, and in addition there is a beet sugar factory at Menominee, Mich., which draws three-fourths of its beets from this state. Thus the demand for all the beets that can be grown in the beet fields of the district is practically assured. The great value of the experiments undertaken is clear to all who have noted the growth of the beet sugar industry in the state, since the four Wisconsin factories paid $1,000,000 last year to farmers of the state. The expense of growing a heavy crop of sugar beets is little greater than that of growing a small crop, though the gross returns on a large crop may be two or three times that of a small one, and the net returns of the field proportionately increased. Investigations that make possible such doubling and trebling of land production are therefore of inestimable value to the farmers and to the state as a whole.

Buying by Moonlight.
"I made a queer trip one night not long ago," said the agent of a cemetery company. "I went out to the cemetery after dark with a prospective customer, so she could see how the burial lot under consideration looked by moonlight. The lady was of a romantic turn of mind. She had taken a fancy to a plot on a little knoll overlooking a lake, but before closing the deal she insisted upon seeing the effect of the moonbeams on the water and surrounding landscape. I had sold many lots under peculiar circumstances, but that poetic phase of our business was something new. The lady seemed to derive considerable satisfaction from it. Anyway, she bought the lot."

Taking a Wrong View.
How many take a wrong view of life, and waste their nervous system in endeavoring to accumulate wealth without thinking of the present happiness they are throwing away. It is not wealth nor honor that makes a man happy. Many of the most wretched beings on earth have both. But it is a radiant, sunny spirit which knows how to bear little trials and enjoy little comforts, and thus extract happiness from every incident in life.—The Christian World.

Nausea.
A free patient came into one of the New York hospitals the other morning. She had been there before. "Well, how are you today?" inquired the physician who saw her. "I ain't suffering no pain, doctor," she replied, "but I have such a feeling of Nausea all the time."—Judge.

Jack Palmer, English "Pug."
Jack Palmer, the English heavyweight, has come to this country with the intention of getting on fights with some of the heavyweights or heavy middleweights.

Palmer was heavyweight champion of England until he met Gunner Molt, who defeated him for the title. He says Molt is too big for him, and as the present crop of active "heavyweights" in this country is rather light, Palmer believes he will stand a better chance of success here. He can make about 105 pounds and beat at his best.

Scully Rows 4,300 Miles in a Year.
With no idea that he would establish an athletic record, Edward C. Grice, fifty years old and a member of the Pennsylvania Barge club, rowed every day last year on the Schuylkill river. He donned his togs and took a long row three or four times a day in an endeavor to improve his health.

At the end of the year his health was much improved, and he had established a record by having rowed 4,300 miles, said to be more than 1,000 miles farther than any other man has ever rowed in a year.

New York Trot Meet.
The decision of the New York Driving club to hold an open trotting meeting at the Empire City track, near Yonkers, N. It is planned to offer such liberal purses that the meeting will attract the best horses which race in the grand circuit. If this is carried out the meeting will assume an importance second to none.

TENNIS PROSPECTS.

International Matches—Ranking of the Leading Players.

NATIONAL CONTESTS AUG. 20.

The American Team Named For England Is Too Weak to Inspire Hope. Clothier, Wrenn and Dwight Responsible For Its Makeup.

The lawn tennis season has opened for business. Several tournaments have already been played, and in two or three weeks the racket campaign will be in full swing.

Interest in the projected trip abroad of another American team seems to be

W. J. CLOTHIER, AMERICAN CHAMPION, dying out in many quarters. The weakness of the proposed team as compared to the contingent from England it will meet is so apparent as to cause wonder at the hardness of the Americans in planning to go over. Sad though it be to admit it, yet it is true that the present English tennis leaders have "the Indian sign" all over the Americans named tentatively for Uncle Sam's team.

The ranking of American tennis players by the United States Lawn Tennis association ought to prove of interest at this stage of the year to followers of the game. Champion W. J. Clothier of Philadelphia stands at the top of the list, of course, but the rankings of Larned, Wright, Alexander, Behr, Little and Hackett were awarded only after bitter controversies.

The official list is as follows:

SINGLES.

Class 2—R. D. Little, H. H. Hackett.

Frederick G. Anderson of the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association says that the international matches will be later than last year and will be decided on the historic courts at Wimbledon, London, about the middle of July. The details as to the selection of the team and the management of the men were left to a committee consisting of William J. Clothier, Robert D. Wrenn and Dr. James Dwight. The men originally chosen to represent America abroad this year were Beals C. Wright, ex-champion; Karl H. Behr of New York and Yale and Raymond D. Little of New York.

In the list of fixtures the national championship will hold the Casino courts at Newport, R. I., beginning Tuesday, Aug. 20. The Jamestown exposition championship will be held the week of Sept. 23. The new feature of the season will be the playing of the east, west and south national championship doubles at the Crescent Athletic club, Brooklyn, Aug. 15.

HARNESS RACE NOVELTY.

Suggested Match Between Sweet Marie, Trot, Queen, and Dan Patch.

A new suggestion for a "championship" harness race has been brought forward. This time it takes the form of a match race between Sweet Marie, 2:02, champion race trotting mare, and Dan Patch, 1:55, the champion pacer.

At first thought this would seem to be a wild idea, but on closer investigation it looks as if the race, if pulled off, would be an interesting one. Of course the fast pacer has a great advantage over the fast trotter. The difference in their records is great, seven seconds, and it was suggested that the race be made a handicap one.

It is believed that the difference in time of a horse drawing a high wheel old fashioned sulky and a new pneumatic tire racing bike is at least five seconds.

Records would seem to indicate this, and Billy Andrews, who is training Sweet Marie, states that if Dan Patch were to draw the old fashioned rig and Sweet Marie a bike he believes that the mare would defeat the champion pacer in a series of races.

While there have been a lot of talk and speculation over the matter, it is hardly likely that the two will ever get together. The owner of Dan Patch has frequently made the assertion that he was ready to race any horse in Dan's class, but it is not probable that he would ever agree to go into a novelty race, such as a contest between the two would have to be.

However, such a race would attract attention all over the country and draw enormous crowds.

It is doubtful whether a foal of a trotting or pacing mare has ever attracted the attention that the little miss brought into the world by Lou Dillon, 1:58 1/2, the world's champion trotting mare, did recently. Every where horsemen have been busy speculating over the future of the little filly, which certainly has a heritage of speed that is truly wonderful. Whether the filly will ever become the trotter her dam was or her sire, John A. McKerron, 2:04 1/4, is a matter for the future to determine, but it is already an assured fact that the foal will be in the limelight as long as it lives. Its breaking, training and every step of development will be watched with great interest by every horseman. Having the greatest speed inheritance of any foal ever born, the filly will have some effect on determining the dispute of so many turf writers and horsemen who are always arguing the benefits of the developed sire and dam theory. As both Lou Dillon and John A. McKerron were great examples of developed trotters, their offspring will either prove the fallacy or the soundness of the oft mentioned theory.

The news comes from Martinsville, Ind., that the widely known grand circuit trainer, Alta P. McDonald of Albany, N. Y., is much improved in health. Last season McDonald was in poor condition all year, and as a result his driving lacked the usual good results that he had encountered in former years. He was thrown out of a sulky while driving Claymoss, 2:07 1/4, at Providence, R. I., in 1904 and suffered much from the accident. Last summer his condition became so serious that it was feared he was stricken with locomotor ataxia, but now it is announced that he is improved in health, but he will not be seen in the sulky for a year more. McDonald has driven a number of famous trotters and pacers, including the champion race mare Sweet Marie, 2:02, last season, and it is believed that the mare would have secured a lower record had McDonald been stout enough to drive her with his ordinary good ability.

The unexpected and inexplicable self destruction of "Chick" Stahl, late captain of the Boston Americans, serves to accentuate the rarity of suicide among professional baseball players. Considering the great number of players the percentage of suicides is so small as to be really remarkable. In a period of twenty years we can at this writing recall only eight suicides in the major league arena—namely, Frank Rizzo, Edward Crane, Ted Larkin, William McNabb, Martin Bergen, William Mercer, Charles Stahl and possibly Ed Delahanty. Ball players, as a rule, evidently find life well worth living, despite the fierce strain of baseball competition.

DAM GIVES WAY AND MANY MEXICANS DIE

TWO SCORE MEN BURIED UNDER MASONRY AND WATER.

Disaster Near Chihuahua, Latest of a Series, Arouses the Authorities to Make an Investigation.

Chihuahua, Mex., May 4.—One of the great walls of the Chuviccar dam gave way Thursday, engulfing nearly 40 men under the enormous weight of masonry and water. Between 15 and 20 of the workmen are dead, 13 injured and several others unaccounted for. Some of the injured will die.

Meager details of the affair reached here Friday morning, when the judicial authorities and several surgeons departed immediately for the scene.

Latest of Many Disasters.

The disaster is the latest of a large number which have recently claimed nearly 200 victims in this state, and mostly in the neighborhood of Chihuahua. The authorities are making a thorough investigation into the present catastrophe and will severely punish those upon whom they place the blame.

According to the version of the affair which reached here, the men were working on a foundation close to the foot of the main rampart of the dam which had already been constructed. The main wall was weak and gave out under the water pressure. The dam was being put in for irrigation, and stock-watering purposes and was a large enterprise. The loss will be heavy. All the victims are Mexicans.

In Germany three women are employed as chimney sweeps, seven as gunsmiths, 19 as brass and bell founders, 147 as copper-smiths, 379 as farriers and nailers, 300 as masons, eight as stonecutters, 2,000 in marble, stone and slate quarries. In all 5,500 000 women can earn their living in trades and professions.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Fair tonight and Sunday, probably becoming unsettled Sunday night, rising temperature tomorrow, frost to-night.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

"The experienced man of finance has a stereotyped question that he asks when a new project is brought out—whether it is a mine in Alaska or a railroad in China—'Who is behind it?' And this should be the question asked by the investor when a stock is offered him. It is more important to know who is behind a company than the character of the company itself. I know men in Wall street who can call up in the course of a few minutes on the telephone a number of their banking friends in this way. 'I am getting together a syndicate to take hold of a project that I can't reveal at once, and I would like to have you join me'—and raise a million or five millions merely on the strength of their names. One day early in the winter a group of mining capitalists offered their friends the opportunity to join them in a $10,000,000 venture; within a few hours the amount for four times over-subscribed. These men, because of their standing in the community, can command any reasonable amount of capital in any venture they take up. They have established for themselves a reputation for honesty and capability."

"The prudent investor, before he considers the merit of a venture in which he is asked to put his money, inquires into its personal. Who is behind it?—Franny Fayant, in Saturday Evening Post."

The man behind the gun has always been the prominent factor, and never more so than today. During the war with Spain, the American navy gained a world-wide reputation, not so much because of its equipment, nor because of the men behind the guns. They could shoot, and when the batteries were turned loose, speedy and effective execution always followed.

One of the obscure lessons of life, and one of the most difficult to discover and comprehend, is the importance of the position in the rear of the eager procession, where plans are matured and brought to successful issue, by men who are not prominent on the surface.

The power of money is generally considered as one of the greatest forces in the industrial world, and men are constantly saying: "If I only had money I would accomplish great results," but money is as powerless as water in a pond, unless behind it is the man who possesses the ability to handle it successfully. It is fortunate for the rank and file of humanity that they are blessed with a modest income, for the spirit of speculation and gambling lies so near the surface that the most of us would be paupers in thirty days if we had a chance to try our hand at high finance.

This statement may seem a little abrupt, but every day history, in almost every community, bears it out. There has been more Janesville money invested in gold brick of various brands, during the past five years, than will be required to build the interurban line to Madison, and much of this waste is due to the fact that the men behind it were incompetent financial stewards.

The same money invested in home industries or new enterprises, would have increased the population of the city twenty-five per cent, and produced substantial returns in the way of property valuation.

An old banking firm, in a neighboring city, failed, the other day, much to the surprise of everybody familiar with its conservative policy and time tested ability.

For 25 years the employees had been educated to believe that speculation was a species of gambling, which under no account would be tolerated.

Investigation proved that the officers of this old institution had been the victims of the disease so prevalent today, and had gone down to defeat.

There is another power, more subtle than the power of money, and more difficult to acquire, because it is not subject to the accident of inheritance, nor the chance and change called luck.

Some people possess money because they happen to outlive their ancestors. Possessions came to them without effort, and it not infrequently happens that they are barnacles on the community where their lot is cast. The thing that costs nothing, whether it be money or anything else, is seldom appreciated.

But the power which is greater than money, and in more active demand today, is a three fold power, within the grasp of every man who recognizes it, and yet so elusive that but comparatively few acquire it, in its entirety. The three graces which comprise this trinity of power are known as knowledge, ability, and honesty, all possessing strength in themselves, but practically helpless when divorced from each other.

The acquirement of knowledge commences in the school room, but if it ends with the text book it represents but a theoretical equipment of uncertain value.

A knowledge of books is helpful for a foundation, but a knowledge of men and things, acquired in the greater school of experience and observation, is necessary to a large degree of success, in any calling.

Knowledge, in itself, is a helpless commodity. There are plenty of men bubbling over with knowledge, who make a failure of life because they lack the ability to apply it. The failure may be his fault or it may be his misfortune.

He may know so much, in his own estimation, that he failed to recognize opportunities, or he may have been unfortunate in selecting some calling to which he was not adapted, either by nature or training. In either event, failure was the natural result.

"The man behind the gun" is the man who possesses the ability to apply knowledge, and the untiring energy to carry out well defined plans to successful issue. This class of men are always in demand, both in the financial and industrial world.

While honesty is absolutely necessary to any degree of permanent success, deprived of other equipment, it is as helpless as either knowledge or money.

It is an ancient maxim, that "an honest man is the noblest work of God," and some people find so much satisfaction in posing, as this class of noblemen, that they never get far enough away from the pedestal to amount to more than a cipher.

A man may be so honest that nobody doubts his word on any proposition, and so lazy that his wife enjoys the undisputed privilege of supporting the family. He may be as honest as either Dowie or Bryan, and just as fanatical and impractical.

"The man behind the gun" must possess honesty plus knowledge and ability, combined with energy and common sense, and these graces are all attainable to the student who is never content with any kind of a diploma, because he has come to realize that he great storehouse of knowledge is inexhaustible.

There are two kinds of capital actively employed in the world's great industry, namely, money and confidence. The former puts up a 10 per cent margin, while the latter furnishes the equipment which fills the channels with busy activity.

The record kept by the great commercial agencies, is a history of every man in business. It runs back through the years, to the day of small beginnings, when with small capital he commenced the struggle for a foothold.

It records, year by year, the habits of his life and the methods pursued in business. If he attains in time an A1 rating, the fact is largely due to the stock of confidence accumulated as the result of ability and honesty invested.

A young man resigned a clerkship, in a country store, a few years ago, and went to New York with $200 in his pocket, to better his conditions.

In looking for a situation he called on an old school friend who was at the head of a department in a dry goods house.

The friend said to him: "Why don't you go back home and go into business for yourself?" The young man replied that he had no capital, and that kind of a venture would be out of the question. His friend said: "But you have the knowledge and ability to run a business and I will vouch for your honesty."

He was fitted out with $1200 worth of goods and went home to engage in business. In five years he owned a nice stock and comfortable home, as the result of confidence and a meagre money investment.

The trouble with "get rich quick schemes" which promise so much on paper is, that there is nothing behind them but a smooth promoter.

Some one recently said: "If you are bound to invest your money in a mine or any other venture, invest it with some man who is making money on his own investment as the result of personal management." That is good advice.

"The man behind the gun," with character and reputation will establish, is always a safe man to cultivate.

Clever Subterfuge, Very.
 Exchange: The foreign gentleman who insists that American men are merely bluffing as rushers because they have time to be present personally when their shoes are being shined, surely could not have met the man who wears patent leather "boots" all summer to avoid the necessity of the delay at a pedal polishing parlor.

A Voting Machine Problem.
 Racine Journal: That part of the voting machine workings that prevents the names of presidential electors from appearing is fatally defective, but still the legislature thinks it can legally correct the defect by proving such omissions shall be legal. In a sort of Hayes-Tilden affair the vote of this state might be thrown out, legislature authorization or not.

Opportune Retrenchment.
 Superior Telegram: The Henry Clows circular makes the following very assuring statement: "Fortunately there are indications of abatement in the new demands for capital. The railroads are postponing some of their new enterprises, and confining outlays to strictly necessary improvements. Bankers are also turning a deaf ear to new schemes and to speculative propositions. This policy of caution, which is everywhere prevalent, should avert any serious difficulties."

Schmitz Seeking Immunity.
 Milwaukee Free Press: Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz of San Francisco, under indictment for all kinds of graft, but who never did a wrong act in his life—see statement issued by himself—offers to resign his office, join the reformers and confess all he knows about graft in San Francisco, if the authorities will agree to give him immunity of all the charges that have been brought against him or that may be. It is supposed that a lot of politicians and business men higher up than the regular run of grafters will get it if Schmitz tells what he knows. The district attorney has not made up his mind, whether immunity will be granted if it is not, of course, Schmitz will be "not guilty."

Saloon Problem in Beloit.
 Beloit News: The menace of more saloons in a city already oversupplied is imminent in Beloit, no less than five new establishments being contemplated by outside parties, three of them backed by a Janesville brewer.

Representatives from Brooklyn, Albany, Orfordville and Monroe have been in the city several days past and have made especially attractive offers on desirable business locations, bidding over the present tenants. In one case where a tenant asked for repairs on the building the owner replied that he would fix up the place, adding that he could get more rent for the place from a saloon if the tenant was not satisfied with the building as it stood.

The Janesville brewer is said to have declared that he would have his beer sold in the city and intended to put in three saloons to accomplish his purpose. It rests with the common council whether or not Beloit shall be given a worse reputation than it has at present. Considering the fact that Beloit, with a population of 15,000 has thirty-two saloons while Rockford with a population nearly three times as great has but forty-one it is apparent that it is high time to draw the line sharply and shut out a further invasion by the brewers' associations.

"Am I sorry I came?"

"Well, I guess not."

"Now I have found out where to come I shall never have dental work done any other way."

DENIES STORY THAT RIVER IS DANGEROUS

C. B. Salmon of Beloit Writes to the Gazette Relative to Recent Story.

C. B. Salmon of Beloit takes exception to the story published in the Gazette some days ago and in the Beloit Free Press and other papers later relative to the possible danger from an overflow of Rock river. He says:

"In a recent edition you copy from the Dixon Star a thrilling story about Lake Koshkonong some day breaking through the six or eight miles of land lying between it and the chain of lakes extending south from Madison and in which Rock river finds its source, and that Lake Koshkonong, being 100 feet higher than Rock river, it will some day give way and open up navigation to the Mississippi and flood the cities lying in its path."

"The Dixon Star states that an engineer of special knowledge and experience on Rock river, gave this out in an interview."

"The Star Reporter had either been fishing and hence not responsible, or the engineer, if correctly reported, was talking through his hat."

"Lake Koshkonong lies on a lower level and nearly 20 miles below the Madison lakes and would have to flow backward and up hill to perform the feat described. Rock river does not take its rise in the Madison lake district but in the marshes of old Horicon lake in Fond du Lac county."

"Lake Koshkonong is not 100 feet higher than Rock river, but is the very same level. It is not a lake, but a mere widening of Rock river, taking the surrounding drainage of lowland. Lake Koshkonong can't break away or overflow only as the river itself does it, as it always has, for it is in fact Rock river."

"In justice to the engineer, he must refer to some other lake and some other river."

MORE DOGS SUCCUMB TO THE STRYCHNINE

Coachman Owned by Miss Ella Nelson Died Yesterday Afternoon—Two Others Poisoned Today.

That the cowardly dog-poisoner is still active in the third ward is evidenced by more fatalities among the canine family during the past twenty-four hours. A valuable coach dog owned by Miss Ella Nelson and kept at John Soullman's residence at 250 South Main street, died yesterday, a dog owned by the Phelps family residing on the same street, was reported to be dying early this afternoon; and the dead carcass of a black and white pet believed to belong to the Frye family residing on Racine street, has been found in the same locality. A canvass of the local drug stores has been made in the effort to discover who has been purchasing strychnine recently, but thus far no clue to the author of the outrages has been discovered.

JUDGE GRIMM WILL DECIDE A QUESTION

Matter of Crossing the North-Western Tracks in Beloit by Street Railway.

Rapid progress is being made on the new street railway line in the city of Beloit, now being constructed by the Beloit Traction company. The poles have all been set, and about one hundred men are at work on the streets, excavating and laying tracks. All the material is of the best, and it will be one of the most complete local lines in this state. There will be a loop on each side of the river, covering a large amount of territory.

The line is so laid out that it may be easily extended, and it will be the officials of the company say, when conditions warrant the improvement. The only trouble so far has been with the Chicago & North-Western Railway company, where the street railway line will cross its tracks at West Grand avenue and Liberty street. The Chicago & North-Western Railway company's officials demand a separation of the grades; that is, a subway or viaduct at each of these places. This would be impracticable.

A petition for the condemnation of these two crossings has been filed in the circuit court of Rock county, verified by Thos. S. Nolan, the company's attorney. In the petition he states, among other things, the route of the street railway line; the necessity for crossing the steam railway at the two points mentioned; the refusal to permit the crossings, and he asks that commissioners be appointed under the statute, to appraise the damage which may be done by reason of the crossings, to the Chicago & North-Western Railway company. The petition will very likely be heard next Monday afternoon, if Judge Grimm should be here.

CHURN FOR A HEAD PIECE.

Piece of Mischief That Might Have Had Fatal Results.

Nearly everyone has heard of the man whose dog got his head caught in a pitcher into which he had thrust it after a taste of the milk at the bottom. The man cut the dog's head off to save the pitcher and then broke the pitcher to get the dog's head out. An incident with almost similar features occurred in the little village of Stanton, N. C., the other day. The children of Mr. Uriah Bumgarner were playing on the porch of their home when a small daughter picked up a churn, one of the old-fashioned kind with a large bottom and a small opening, and in a spirit of mischief placed it upside down over the head of her two-year-old brother, who was sitting on the floor. The little girl accidentally dropped the churn and down it went over the head of the child, who began to yell. The father and several neighbors ran up and found that the boy had turned his chin upward and the churn could not be removed. The upturned bottom of the churn finally had to be sawed off before the child could be released, and the little chap emerged from his unique head covering almost dead from fright.

MADE HIS RECORD CLEAN.

Driver Had Missed One Rock and Had to Go Back.

Some years ago Gen. Miles started to drive from Red Lodge, Mont., to Cody, Wyo., to see his friend, Buffalo Bill. The road was rough, and the reckless driving of the man holding the lines made it seem rougher, but the Indian fighter compressed his lips and clung to the seat without complaint. When near Cody the general suddenly prodded the driver in the back with his walking stick and said curtly: "Driver, turn around." "What?" exclaimed the astonished driver. "Do as I tell you," commanded Miles. So the man turned the horses about and started back to Red Lodge. "Now turn here," ordered Miles, after they had driven a few yards. Convinced that his distinguished passenger had suddenly lost his mind, the driver turned about once more and started for Cody. "There!" exclaimed Miles, in a tone of satisfaction, as the side wheels struck a stone and he bounded into the air. "You hit it! Now, driver, you can go back to Red Lodge and tell them that you drove 75 miles and never missed a rock. You've hit them, every one."

Sweet Innocence.

This is the first year "out" of a certain pretty little Baltimore girl, but she is promising. Not long ago at a dance a young man who had for some time been an ardent but bashful admirer, succeeded in getting his nerve up to the point of asking her to sit out a dance with him in a little nook beneath the stairs, well screened by a bank of palms. "I—I don't know whether I should do that," she said, twisting her fan in her hands and looking up at him from beneath long lashes, "but—yes, I will." "Why—er, you don't think it would be improper?" he said, blushing. "N—no," she hesitated, "but the last time I sat there with a young man—he kissed me." With a sudden light in his eyes the young man led the way toward the palm bank.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Thought They Were Grown.

One of the guests at a Thanksgiving dinner, commenting upon the great American bird, casually remarked that friends living in the country raised their own turkeys. Whereupon the four-year-old daughter of the house promptly inquired: "Where do they get the seed?"

CRUELTY TO HUMBLE HEN.

Man Complains of Mean Trick Played on Defenseless Biddy.

"The meanest trick I ever heard of," said a poultryer, "is now being played on a certain family of New Jersey hens. This trick comes under two heads. It comes under the head of cruelty to animals and under the head of giving intoxicating drinks to minors. It should be taken up and put a stop to by our female societies. Let the sex stand by one another all the way down the line." "But I thought you were talking about eggs?" "I am talking about eggs. That is the point to my story. You know how hens only want to set at certain times after they've laid a couple of dozen eggs running? Well, on this New Jersey hen farm I speak of they feed the hens alcoholized grain, and while the poor, unprotected creatures are under the influence they place them on top of nests of eggs, and when they come to themselves the past is a blank, they think they laid the eggs beneath them, and for many days squat there dutifully until the chicks are hatched. It's a money-making trick, but it ain't right. To make a poor hen drunk—to deceive her besides in so important a matter as that of offspring! How would you like to be deceived about your offspring? No, sir, it ain't right, and it ought to be put a stop to."

HAD A USE FOR THE STOVE.

Doctor Knew Where He Could Place It to His Advantage.

The following story is being told of a certain celebrated Parisian doctor, whose domestic relations are said to be not altogether satisfactory. He was called in one day to prescribe for a lady who thought she had influenza. But the doctor, after observing her symptoms, looked about the room in order to discover the cause. Suddenly he perceived the stove, a very beautiful work of art, and exclaimed: "My dear madam, that stove is the cause of your trouble; it is filling your room with poisonous gas, and if you continue to use it, it will end by killing you." "But doctor, it cost me $24." "No matter; better lose your money than your health." But as the lady seemed unconvinced, the doctor added: "I will give you one-quarter the price, and see if I cannot get rid of the thing." So the stove departed. Later on the patient was changing her apartments and went to look at some others that were being vacated. In one of the rooms she inspected she recognized her former stove. "Who is living here?" she inquired. "Mme. G—," the mother-in-law of the famous Dr. —, was the reply. With a smile of understanding the lady left.—Tit-Bits.

Where Beggars Ride.

"If wishes were horses beggars might ride," says the old saw, but in Persia beggars actually do ride, although they patronize the humble donkey instead of the more aristocratic brother. How they manage to obtain these useful animals, or even to exist themselves, passes European comprehension, but the fact remains that they do both. The Persian tramp, astride his donkey, often makes very long journeys—even as far as Mehed on Mecca, whence he returns with the proud title of "Hadj." Useful as the donkey is to his mendicant master, the latter usually treats him in a most brutal fashion, a length of chain being a frequent substitute for a whip when the unfortunate animal needs encouragement.—Wide World Magazine.

Japanese Natural Golfers.

Horace Hutchinson, writing in London Country Life, says: "It is my conviction that the Japanese have the finest natural qualities in the world for golf, and when they take to the game seriously we shall see sights and wonders in the way of mashie shots holed and long drives laid dead."

HINDUS SACK INDIAN CITY.

Serious Anti-European Riots at Rawalpindi, in Punjab.

Allahabad, British India, May 4.—Serious anti-European riots have occurred at Rawalpindi, in the Punjab. A Hindu mob burned two bungalows, pillaged the mission church, looted the post office, burned a garage and all the motor cars in it, destroyed the plant of a powerhouse and smashed the windows in the houses of many Europeans. Armed police eventually obtained the upper hand and dispersed the rioters. The town is now patrolled by a squadron of the Tenth Hussars.

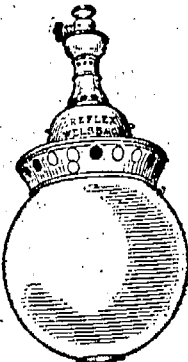

The outbreak at Rawalpindi is attributed to the influence of well-known agitators who have been making speeches throughout the Punjab and who also are held responsible for the recent outbreak at Lahore.

Arose Early to Write.
During the time when suspicion pointed strongly to Sir Walter Scott as the author of the Waverley novels the closest watchfulness of his guests at Abbotsford failed to detect signs of literary activity on their host's part, the reason being that his pen had always completed its daily labors by the time the amateur detectives had arisen from their beds.

The Janesville
Lightning Rod
ManufacturersThe Way They Do
Business

We are aware that the Lightning Rod business in the past has been done largely by a class of men whose only object was to get the purchaser to sign a contract making him believe he was going to do him a good job for little money, but when he came to settle his bill it had been increased from ten to twenty times what he thought it would be; and in doing business this way the people have become prejudiced against any one that is selling Lightning Rods.

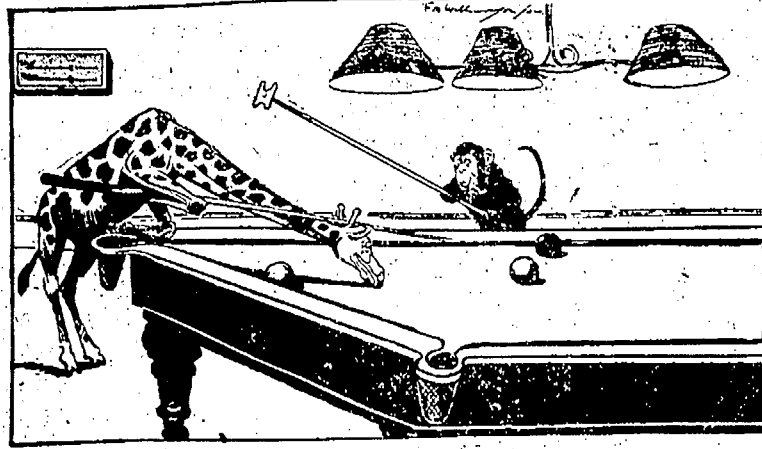

We will rod a man's buildings, give him six months or a year's time, we ask him to sign no note or contract or any paper of any kind. We give him this time to investigate and find out whether we are all right and are what we represent ourselves to be, and if he finds out that we or our goods are not as represented, his Lightning Rod account is canceled. And we give a guarantee with each and every job that we do, if your building is damaged by lightning we will refund the purchase price of the rod.

Let us figure on your buildings and tell you what it will cost, whether you want to rod them or not.

The report of the committee was favorable to such a union, and the prospect is now good that the two organizations will unite in the enterprise, and make such a fair as has not been held in Rock County in many a year.

Eight Hour Excitement in Chicago.—The eight hour excitement is still raging in Chicago, and the mobocrats are yet saucy and rampant. Yesterday Mayor Rice issued a proclamation, warning the rioters to desist and disperse. The closing portion of his looks like business. He says:

"Having read that law, you know your duties as citizens; you also know that the laws must be obeyed else there is no safety for the people. The duty of the officers of the city is to insist upon obedience of the laws. This duty must be—will be done; or to your homes, stop all interference or intimidation, obey the laws, do not compel the officers of the city, who have sworn to do their duty, to resort to force to suppress disturbance, which they must do if they do not desist."

Before The Footlights.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" like wine, grows better with age. From its first production at the Troy, New York, museum, June 18, 1852, up to the present time, it has been one of the best drawing cards known. Instead of falling off, the patronage has increased magnificence which has never been equalled. Many managers copied from the Martin production, but have failed in reaching its standard owing to the lack of enough managerial sand to invest their capital. Mr. Martin will this year bring the grandest revival to such an extent that the theatres are too small to accommodate the crowds it draws. Not only have American theatre-goers supported the drama, but those of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales have sung loud their praise. While the drama bears the distinction of being the greatest ever written, it has also been most shamefully abused. Museums have presented it at the rate of ten times a day, one night stand companies have butchered it, and humorists have used it as a foundation for short stories, but in spite of all it has proved that a "good thing cannot be downed." Mr. A. W. Martin was the first manager to realize that a revival of the play, if properly mounted and carefully presented, would renew its former success and place the production on a scale of ever seen. The company (all white) numbers 50 people, including a chorus of 20, and every piece of scenery and electrical effect required to dress the play are carried. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be presented at the Myers Theatre, Monday, May 6, matinee and evening.

Among the musical numbers in "The Gingerbread Man," which Myron B. Rice will present at the Myers theatre, today, matinee and evening, "John Dough" will perhaps become the most popular among the men "Beautiful Land of Bon Bon."

Fake Coins in Circulation.
 Clergymen in Scotland have been disconcerted recently on discovering imitation money made of silvered pasteboard and looking like shillings, in the currency on Sundays. One minister says that no one can quarrel with the ingenuity displayed in the manufacture of these "coins." They are absolutely perfect—to look at.

COMPLIMENT PAID PRINTING DEPT.

GAZETTE PRINTING COMPANY
 TURNS OUT FINE WORK.

WHAT BUSINESS MAN SAYS

Large Local Concerns Expressed Their Approval of the Grade of Printing Done.

Printing which is good enough to make so many sales for the manufacturer that it is necessary to call in traveling men from the road is the sort of printing that is a credit not only to the manufacturer but to the printer as well.

The printing department of the Gazette has executed some very fine work for several of Janesville's leading manufacturers and business concerns. Two handsome furniture catalogues have come from this department recently, one for the Hanson Furniture company and one for the Choate-Hollister Furniture company. That of the Hanson Furniture company is a very artistic, illustrated book printed in process color from beautiful halftones showing the grain of the wood in the tables manufactured by this company, and which bring the article out so clearly that the prospective purchaser can make selection from the book with ease. Mr. Henry M. Hanson, in speaking of the book, said it was the finest piece of catalogue work he had ever seen and that his experience had brought him in touch with the producers of the finest printing in the country. Grand Rapids is supposed to be the home of the fine furniture printed matter, to produce work that pays the compliment, including Grand Rapids in his statement. It is gratifying to the printer, as well as to the business "house" who pays for the printed matter, to secure work that is out of the ordinary, and in the production of this high grade work the Gazette may be excused from saying a considerable amount of its ability to carry out orders for high class printing.

The catalogue furnished for the Choate-Hollister Furniture company is of thirty-six pages, beautifully illustrated with halftones of the very finest sort and printed in a double-tone ink which gives a handsome finished effect. The cover in two colors on a brown paper is very attractive and the entire work reflects much credit upon the Choate-Hollister Co. in its compilation and arrangement as well as the printers. Printed matter of this class does much to advertise Janesville and also stamps the business house from which it comes as of high standard.

A book for the Janesville Carriage Works is another of the jobs recently turned out. It was done on a high finished, enameled paper in a fine black ink as nicely executed as is possible for any printing establishment to turn out.

Both local telephone companies have published within a few weeks new directories which are said to be the best that have yet come out for them. A considerable amount of fine printing has been furnished the Creamery Supply Co. of Clinton, Wis. A 20-trating the Penix cream separator, making a very pretty and satisfactory piece of work. A large run of two-color folders on fine enamel paper, illustrated with specially drawn halftone cuts, have recently been completed for the Janesville Barb Wire Co. and some exceptionally nice hangers in process color for the Parker Pen Co. A large run of two-color booklets and folders for the Hough Shade corporation, and much other work for leading manufacturers and business houses in and out of the city.

The equipment of the printing department of the Gazette is equal to that of any of the larger printing establishments in the country and the workmen employed are the very highest class. It has been demonstrated fully that there is no class of work which need go away from Janesville, no matter how difficult of construction it may be.

Those interested in fine printing are invited to come in at any time and look over some of the samples that have come from the presses recently.

Engraving or halftone work which our patrons may require to illustrate and embellish their printed matter can be taken care of in a most satisfactory manner. First-class work at prices equal or lower than city engraving houses charge are in force. Halftone portraits, zinc etchings, electrotyping and reproductions of all kinds and classes given special attention.

SOMETHING YOU SHOULD KNOW
 We want the people of Janesville and vicinity to know that the most valuable and delicious cod liver preparation known to medicine is Vinol.

Vinol contains all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cod's livers, but not a drop of the useless, greasy oil to upset the stomach and retard its work, and to this is added peptonate of iron (tonic iron).

For this reason Vinol is recognized throughout the world as the greatest health restorer and strength creator known to medicine, and we do not believe there is a man, woman or child in Janesville who what Vinol will benefit them at this season of the year.

 Club Thursday Evening.

Evansville, May 3.—The banquet of the Woman's Literary and Ladies' Afternoon clubs which took place in the Congregational church parlors last evening was one of the pleasantest social events of the season. The decorations were very pretty, being in pink and green and were of ferns, carnations and roses. The guests of honor were the Tourist club, Rev. and Mrs. T. W. North, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Morgan, Professor and Mrs. A. H. Sholtz and Rev. E. A. Ralph. There were about ninety present present in all. At six-thirty a delicious repast was served, after which toasts were in order. Mrs. J. M. Evans acted as toastmistress and gave many witty anecdotes and introductions. Mrs. O. C. Colony responded to "Our Club Guests," Mrs. Vie H. Campbell, "The Club Woman—Wise or Unwise," Mrs. T. W. North, "The Outsiders," Mrs. T. Boyd, "Shakespeare," H. D. Morgan, "An Ode to the Weather Man," and Rev. E. A. Ralph, "Everybody." The toasts were all remarkable for their brilliancy and humor. Bonnett of Chicago as guests of Miss Andrews, Mrs. May Kemp of Madison accompanying Mrs. Everett Van Patten, and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Ensign of Beloit as the guests of Mrs. Will Magge. The Young Ladies' Missionary society of the Congregational church prepared the menu which was served in four courses in a most systematic and pleasing manner under the directions of Mrs. Robert D. Hartley assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Langemak, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Axtell, Mr. and Mrs. Will Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Winston, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Spilston, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Miss Jessie Gwehr acted as bridesmaid and Mr. Lyson Munns, brother of the groom, as best man. The happy couple will make their future home at Greenville, Ill., and leave for that place at once, taking with them the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

Significant Epigram:
 "When I was at Harvard," said Dr. William F. Anderson, of New York, in concluding a brief address, "the boys had a little epigram with which they used to warn speakers not to be too prolix. It compared a speech to a wheel. You know, professor, they would say, 'the longer the spoke, the greater the tire.'"—Christian Register.

ANOTHER PIPE DREAM APPEARS

MONTGOMERY TALKS OF HIS PRO-POSAL ROAD TO JANESVILLE.

WOULD SELL BONDS IN CITY

Stoughton Correspondent of State
 Journal Has Weird Tale of Financing Proposed Road.

Every so often the story of the proposed Jonesville-Madison interurban emanates from the Madison sources. Just at present President Montgomery of the Madison line is standing in the limelight with a proposition to build the road from Madison to Janesville. Much talk has been made and a company incorporated carrying with it two million dollars in bonds. The latest proposition is to sell the bonds to citizens along the right of way and in Madison, Stoughton, Edgerton and Janesville. The Stoughton correspondent of the State Journal has the following story for a spring upon the unsuspecting public:

The Story.
 "In view of the high-brokerage discount of 10 per cent demanded by New York for floating of the $2,000,000 in bonds of the Southern Wisconsin Light & Traction company, which is planning to build the interurban line between Madison and Janesville, efforts are now being made to float the entire issue in Madison, Janesville, Stoughton and Edgerton.

"A New York bond agent for President Montgomery of the Madison & Interurban Traction company, who is chief promoter of the interurban scheme, spent some time with Attorney J. M. Clancy in this city in an effort to ascertain about how much of the bond issue would be taken up by Stoughton and Edgerton capital—has much as these two cities are to be touched by the proposed line.

Much Chance for Line.
 "Now that President Montgomery is backing the line, which will traverse the rich farming country between Janesville and Madison and connect with the important shipping points of Stoughton and Edgerton, there is no longer a doubt as to its construction in the near future. The State Journal has kept in close touch with events pertaining to this project and the public has been informed as events transpired. A number of interurban franchises have been asked for and granted by Stoughton and other towns between Madison and Janesville but none brought forth a realization of what many began to call the interurban 'dream.' The agitation on a line by E. L. Spobner who is said to have sought to raise the franchise in the eastern townships for the sum of $200,000, has induced others to attack the interurban proposition with a greater degree of confidence in its ultimate success.

Clough's Efforts.
 "A Janesville company made a struggle to land something but it failed to come. Last year Mr. Clough and Mr. McAllister made a survey before asking franchises and it was completed, with grades established and other information obtained. The Clough-McAllister company did not really care to have the line become a part of the Madison system, but preferred to build a bridge on Lake Monona, crossing the tracks of the St. Paul railway with the station not more than three blocks from the Park hotel thus avoiding the real cause for objection or side-track dispute from South Madison into the city proper, the object being to make quick time from Madison to Janesville, with through trains and then on to Chicago.

Here is the 'Pipe.'
 "On being informed that local investors preferred real estate to stocks and bonds he left for Janesville to complete a deal. Janesville agrees to take $250,000 of the bonds at a small discount. New York wants ten per cent discount, which is considered too high, furnishing only ninety cents for every dollar of bonds received. To avoid this large discount, the New York agent came to Wisconsin, where the surplus capital in this information is difficult to obtain, as the bonds may be scattered among a number of big institutions. Wall street 'slims' can no longer influence the balance of the country and the middle west that was thirty years ago an urgent borrower from the east, now loans to eastern banks millions of dollars and home enterprises, interurbans, as well as factories, are sure to be safe investments. These facts are no doubt potent to Mr. Montgomery.

The Trust Deed.
 "Upon the sale of the bonds the Central Wisconsin Trust company of Madison, will be made a trustee, instead of the great New York institution and information as to whom the bond holders are can be readily ascertained. This will be an advantage to those interested. Bonds are liable to assessment and if a bond holder seeks the appointment of a receiver he must personally notify two-thirds of the bondholders. With the great New York trust company this information is difficult to obtain, as the bonds may be scattered among a number of big institutions. Wall street 'slims' can no longer influence the balance of the country and the middle west that was thirty years ago an urgent borrower from the east, now loans to eastern banks millions of dollars and home enterprises, interurbans, as well as factories, are sure to be safe investments. These facts are no doubt potent to Mr. Montgomery.

Montgomery is Necessary.
 "This arrangement would have been preferable to any other, but there was a great obstacle to its accomplishment—the lack of means with which to build the line. Mr. Montgomery was a factor that could not be ignored. He must pledge his Madison street car system as a part of the enterprise, otherwise Wall street capital could not be obtained. But he came to the rescue and now the entire line will be constructed under his direction. The Madison street car system, which is a profitable one to its owners and the interurban line to Janesville will be under one and the same management, namely Mr. Montgomery and his associates.

Investment? In population the district between Madison and Janesville, including the two cities, is behind the established requirement. It has been ascertained elsewhere that an interurban line pays in proportion to the number of inhabitants who are accommodated by it. In this respect Clough and McAllister failed to satisfy the New York investors. Therefore Mr. Montgomery must make good, with his Madison system, that which the line, or prospective line, lacks in patronage. The growth of the cities benefited and the certain increase in population in the lesser sections are not taken into consideration by the moneyed men.

Interurban Route.
 "Present indications are that the line will connect with the Rockford, Beloit and Janesville line at Janesville, run north and west through Indian Ford (over the Rock river) to Edgerton, through Stoughton, along the Yahara river north to Ravenswood Park, then west to Rock Elm Park and then on to Lake Waubesa, skirting the south side of the same and then connect with the Madison line at the fair grounds. This makes a through interurban line from Madison to Chicago, with sleeping and chair cars."

True Status.
 "The true status of the affair appears to be that Mr. Montgomery is trying to induce the city council of Madison to extend his present franchise under the plan he intends to build to Janesville and needs the extension to interest capital in his project. Mr. Clough has for some months been trying to reach an agreement with Mr. Montgomery relative to his proposed road entering Madison over his city line without avail. It is now reported in Madison that Mr. Clough will ask for a franchise for himself. He is at present in the east and has hopes of being able to interest capital in his project so that actual work can be commenced before the summer is over.

TALKS NEW ROAD TO MILWAUKEE PEOPLE

President H. W. Seaman Says That His Road Is Ready to Begin Construction.

Janesville people are interested in the statement made by President H. W. Seaman, of the Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota road that a consolidation of all the different railroads embraced in this system had been effected and would be formally announced at the annual meeting on May 26. The roads included are the Rockford belt road, the Illinois, Indiana and Gary and the Milwaukee and Rockford roads. At the annual meeting the announcement will also be made of a change in the name of the system to the Chicago, Milwaukee and Gary railroad company. The total mileage embraced in the system at present and prospective is 500 miles. One hundred and twenty-five miles of the road is now in operation.

President Seaman stated his road would shortly begin an extension from Rockford to Milwaukee and that an interurban branch would be built to Gary, Indiana as soon as possible.

This is the line that is seriously considering coming through Beloit and Janesville on its way to Milwaukee. Nothing definite has been done regarding the Janesville extension and it is not probable that any steps will be taken until the annual meeting May 26, at which time action will probably be decided upon.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff, or, scurf, by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality, causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Write for it.

OF HISTORY

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM,

Author of "The Master Mummer," "A Prince of Sinners," "Mysterious Mr. Sabin," "Anna the Adventuress," Etc.

Copyright, 1905, 1906, by LITTLE, BROWN, and COMPANY.

"the sauce!" Duncombe answered. "Forgive me, Spencer, but this affair is, after all, a serious one to me. You say that your two scouts, as you call them, discovered nothing. Well, they only had one evening at it. Will they try again in other directions? Can I engage them to work for me? Money is absolutely no object."

Spencer shook his head. "Duncombe," he said, "you're going to think me a poor sort of friend, but the truth is best. You must not count upon me any more. I cannot lift even my little finger to help you. I can only give you advice if you want it."

"And that?" "Go back to England tomorrow. Chuck it altogether. You are up against too big a combination. You can do no more any good. You are a great deal more likely to come to harm yourself."

Duncombe was quite quiet for several moments. When he spoke again, his manner had a new stiffness.

"You have surprised me a good deal, I must confess, Spencer," he said. "We will abandon the subject."

Spencer shrugged his shoulders. "I know," he said, "you're feeling a chap," he said. "I can't help it. I understand my position here. I write a daily letter for the best-paying and most generous newspaper in the world, and it is absolutely necessary that I keep hand in glove with the people in high places here. My position absolutely demands it, and my duty to my chief necessitates my putting all personal feeling on one side in a case like this when a conflict arises."

"But where," Duncombe asked, "does the conflict arise?" "Here," Spencer answered. "I received a note this morning from a great personage in this country to whom I am under more obligations than any other breathing man; requesting me to refrain from making any further inquiries or assisting any one else to make them. In this matter, I can assure you that I was thunderstruck, but the note is in my pocket at the present moment."

"Does it mention them by name?" "The exact words are," Spencer answered, "respecting the reported disappearance of the young Englishman, Guy Pornton, and his sister. This will just show you how much you have to hope for from the police; for the person whose signature is at the foot of that note could command the implicit obedience of the whole system."

Duncombe's cheeks were a little flushed. He was British to the backbone, and his obstinacy was being stirred.

"The more reason," he said quietly, "so far as I can see, that I should continue my independent efforts with such help as I can secure. This girl and boy are fellow country people; and I haven't any intention of leaving them in the clutches of any brutal gang of Frenchmen into whose hands they may have got. I shall go on doing what I can, Spencer."

The journalist shrugged his shoulders.

"I can't help sympathizing with you, Duncombe," he said, "but keep reasonable. You know your Paris well enough to understand that you haven't a thousand to one chance. Besides, Frenchmen are not brutal. If the boy got into a scrape, it was probably his own fault."

"And the girl? What of her? Am I to leave her to the tender mercies of whatever particular crew of blackguards may have got her into their power?"

"You are needlessly melodramatic," Spencer answered. "I will admit, of course, that her position may be an unfortunate one, but the personage whom I have the honor to call my friend does not often protect blackguards. Be reasonable, Duncombe! These young people are not relatives of yours, are they?"

"No."

"Nor very old friends—the young lady, for instance?"

Duncombe looked up, and his face was set in grim and dogged lines. He felt like a man who was nailing his colors to the mast.

"The young lady," he said, "is, I pray heaven, my future wife!"

Spencer was honestly amazed and a little shocked.

"Forgive me, Duncombe," he said, "I had no idea, though perhaps I ought to have guessed."

They went on with their luncheon in silence for some time except for a few general remarks. But after the coffee had been brought and the cigarettes were alight, Spencer leaned once more across the table.

"Tell me, Duncombe, what you mean to do."

"I shall go to the Cafe Montmartre myself tonight. At such a place there must be hangers-on and parasites who see something of the game. I shall try to come into touch with them. I am rich enough to outbid the others who exact their silence."

"You must be rich enough to buy their lives then," Spencer answered gravely, "for if you do succeed in tempting any one to betray the inner happy-go-lucky place on which the seal of silence has been put, you will hear of it in the morgue before a fortnight is passed."

"Take their risk," Duncombe said. "I am going to stay with money tonight, and I shall leave where I am going."

"Where are you going?" "To the Cafe Montmartre," Duncombe said.

"Your friend said gravely, 'I shall go to the Cafe Montmartre tonight. At such a place there must be hangers-on and parasites who see something of the game. I shall try to come into touch with them. I am rich enough to outbid the others who exact their silence.'"

"He was found dead in his study," Duncombe said.

"The poison was given to him in the Cafe Montmartre, and it was there that he died. I am behind the scenes in some of these matters, but I know enough to hold my tongue, or my London letter wouldn't be worth a pound a week. I am giving myself away to you now, Duncombe. I am risking a position which it has taken me twenty years to secure. I've got to tell you these things, and you must do as I tell you. Go back to London!"

Duncombe laughed as he rose to his feet.

"Not though the vicomte's fate is to be mine tonight," he answered. "The worse hell this place is, the worse the crew it must shelter. I should never hold my head up again if I sneaked off home and left the girl in their hands. I don't see how you can even suggest it."

"Only because you can't do the least good," Spencer answered. "And, besides, don't run away with a false impression. The place is dangerous only for certain people. The authorities don't protect murderers or thieves except under special circumstances. The vicomte's murderer and De Laursen's were brought to justice. Only they keep the name of the place out of it always. Tourists in shoals visit it and visit it in safety every evening. I pay fancy prices for what they have, but I think they get their money's worth. But for certain classes of people it is the 'decoy house' of Europe. Foreign spies have babbled away their secrets there, and the greatest criminals of the world have whispered away their lives to some fair daughter of Judas at those tables. I, who am behind the scenes, tell you these things, Duncombe."

Duncombe smiled.

"Tomorrow," he said, "you may add another victim to your chamber of horrors."

CHAPTER VIII.

HE amber wine fell in a little winking stream from his upraised glass on to the tablecloth below. He leaned back in his chair and gazed at his three guests with a fatuous smile. The girl in blue, with the dazzlingly fair hair and wonderful complexion, steeled his hand and exchanged a meaning look with the man who sat opposite. Surely the poor fool was ready for the plucking? But Madame, who sat beside her, frowned upon them both. She had seen things which had puzzled her. She signed to them to wait.

She leaned over and flashed her great black eyes upon him.

"Monsieur enjoys himself like this every night in Paris?"

A soft, a very seductive, voice. The women who vied her success compared it to the purring of a cat. Men as a rule found it fault with it, especially those who heard it for the first time.

Duncombe set down his glass, now almost empty. He looked from the stain on the tablecloth into the eyes of Madame, and again she thought them very unlike the eyes of a drunken man.

"Why not? It's the one city in the world to enjoy oneself in. Half past 4, and here we are as jolly as anything. Chucked out of everywhere in London at half past 12. 'Time, gentlemen, please!' And out go the lights. Jove, I wonder what they'd think of this at the Continental! Let's—let's have another bottle!"

The fair haired girl—Flossie to her friends, Mlle. Mermillon until you had been introduced—whispered in his ear. He shook his head vaguely. She had her arm round his neck. He removed it gently.

"We'll have another here first anyhow," he declared. "Hi, garçon! Ring the bell, there's a good chap, monsieur—dash it, I've forgotten your name! No, don't move. I'll do it myself!"

He rose and staggered toward the door.

"The bell isn't that way, monsieur," Madame exclaimed. "It is to the right, Louis, quick!"

M. Louis sprang to his feet. There was a queer, grating little sound, followed by a sharp click. Duncombe had swung round and faced them. He had turned the key in the door and was calmly pocketing it.

M. Louis did not move. The hand which held that small, shining revolver was certainly not the hand of a drunken man.

They all three looked at him in wonder—Madame, M. Louis and Mlle. Flossie. The dark eyebrows of Madame almost met, and her eyes were full of the promise of evil things. M. Louis, covering back from that steadily pointed revolver, was white with the inherited cowardice of the degenerate. Flossie, who had drunk more wine than any of them, was trying to look as though it were a joke. Duncombe, with his disordered evening clothes, his stained shirt front and errant tie, was master of the situation. He came and stood a few feet away from them. His blundering, French accent and slow choice of words had not hesitated. He spoke to them without hesitation, and his French was almost as good as their own.

"I want you to keep your places," he said, "and listen to me for a few minutes. I can assure you I am neither mad nor drunk. I have a few questions to ask you, and if your answers are satisfactory you may yet find my acquaintance as profitable as though I had been the pigeon I seemed. Keep your seat, M. le Baron!"

M. Louis, who had half risen, sat down again hastily. They all watched him from their places around the table.

It was Madame whom he addressed more directly—Madame, with the jet black hair and golden earrings, the pale cheeks and scarlet lips.

"I invited you into a private room here," he said, "because what I have to say to you three is between ourselves alone. You came, I presume, because it promised to be profitable. All that I want from you is information, and for that I am willing to pay."

M. Louis interposed. He stroked his little black mustache with a much begrimed hand. With the other he gesticulated.

Spasms St. Vitus' Dance.

Many persons who suffered untold agonies from epilepsy, fits, spasms, and St. Vitus' Dance are today well. The strengthening influence of Dr. Miles' Nervine upon the shattered nerves having restored them to perfect health.

"I endured agony that words cannot express from St. Vitus' dance which followed a very severe spell of rheumatism. I doctored with a physician, but he told me that my medicine was the worst I got. My mother's devotion saved me. After she had become almost heart-broken, as well as physically exhausted, from constant care by the advice of a neighbor she procured a bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine. From the first dose to the last a continual change for the better was noticeable, and when I had taken eleven bottles I was well and in robust health."

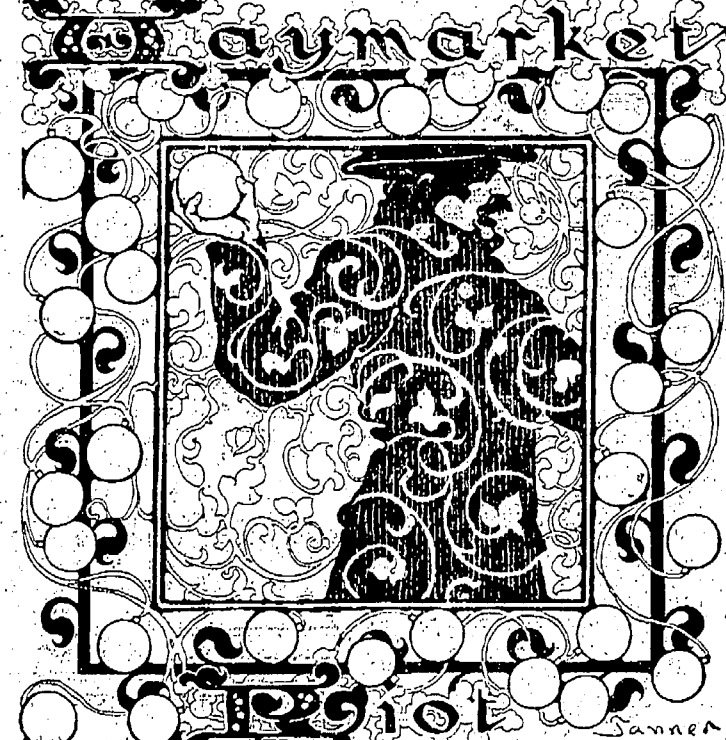

EDWARD D. BEAM, North Manchester, Indiana.

"Our little boy Harry had spasms for three years, and although we doctored with many physicians, he continued to grow worse until he had ten spasms in one week. About that time our attention was called to Dr. Miles' Nervine. We began giving it to him. His improvement seemed slow, but when he had finished the fourth bottle the spasms had disappeared, and have not been seen now for years. We shall always recommend Dr. Miles' Nervine."

MRS. BELLE M. TINDALL, Hastings, Neb.

HAYWOOD JURORS WILL KEEP HOUSE

PLEASANT RESIDENCE RENTED BY SHERIFF AT BOISE.

READY FOR LARGE CROWD

Peculiar Arrangement of the Court Room—Senator Borah's Sharp Reply to Former Judge Beatty.

Boise, Idaho, May 4.—The jury which will try William Haywood, the first of the accused in the Steunenberg case, will keep house during the trial. The law of Idaho provides that such juries shall be kept together and in seclusion from public contact, and the higher courts have always insisted on a strict compliance with the provision.

Therefore, rather than take any chances with the publicity of a hotel in this case, Sheriff Shad Hodgkin, responsible for the custody of the jurors, has hired a house for them. The house, an attractive, well built structure, standing on a neat lawn and garden, is just across the street that flanks the rear of Ada county court house, and within about 300 feet of the court room.

To make the daily journeys of the jury as direct as possible, the sheriff has constructed a temporary stairway from the rear of the second story of the court house. Its upper landing is the platform of a fire escape, and it is reached through the ante-room of Judge Woods' chambers. The jury can therefore be taken directly to the stairway without leaving the railled enclosure of the court room.

Will Be Well Fed and Watched.

An official cook has been retained, and arrangements have been made with local stores for a good and varied supply of food. Two bailiffs—two for day duty and two for night service—will guard the jury. The house will be carefully and constantly watched. Entry to the open lawn will be prohibited. One of the day bailiffs will remain at home while the jury is in court and the night bailiffs will do no sleeping during their watch.

The court room is being partly reconstructed in order to increase the seating capacity both in and outside the rail.

Two unusual features of the court room are that the jury box occupies the space directly in front of the bench that is generally filled by the clerk and his desk, and the witness chair is in the middle of the chamber, between the ends of counsel tables and directly in front of the middle gate of the rail. The jury faces the room, but its chairs are on swivels that may be swung around to face the judge. The witness chair is on a platform and is visible from all points in the room.

Room for the Reporters.

Many extra chairs and tables are being placed on either side of the room within the enclosure for the use of the "daily press" representatives, and a long desk has been built along the outer side of the rail for the special writers and artists. Special seats are being placed for members of the Boise bar and the seating capacity of the public part of the room increased to about 300.

Judge Wood and Sheriff Hodgkin are cooperating on plans calculated to expedite the work and comfort of all engaged in and on the trial, under conditions as reasonable as circumstances and necessity will permit.

Senator Borah, one of the leading counsel for the state in the approaching trial, Friday issued a statement in reply to an interview given at Washington by former Judge James B. Beatty, who recently retired from the federal district bench in this state. Judge Beatty presided at the time the grand jury was in session recently, and returned indictments against a number of persons for alleged timber land frauds. It is alleged that one of these indictments was found against Senator Borah, who has been general counsel for the Barber Lumber company, which is accused of having secured lands by fraud. The alleged indictment against Senator Borah, while admittedly found by the grand jury, has not as yet been reported.

Borah Answers Beatty.

Senator Borah's statement follows: "I have read Judge Beatty's statement, and have only this to say. Judge Beatty for the last year seems to have utterly forgotten the high position he holds. During the last campaign for the senatorship he used his position in a shameful and utterly dishonorable way for his political advantage. He did not hesitate to demand and receive favors from litigants who had important litigation in his court, and so conducted himself as to compromise to a great extent his dignity and honor.

"I am sure it is to the credit and advantage of the judiciary that he is on his way to Egypt."

ARRESTS POLICE AND SOLDIERS AT PUERTO CORTES.

Brutal Assault on American Negro Arouses the Commander—Says Offenders Must Be Punished.

Puerto Cortes, April 29, via Mobile, Ala., May 4.—About five o'clock on the evening of Saturday, April 27, a negro man formerly from Boyce Station, La., named General Davis, a fruit inspector for the Thacker Bros' steamship line, was standing quietly near the railroad station at La Laguna, where the shops of the railroad are situated, talking with three or four other negro companions, also Americans.

A drunken Nicaraguan soldier, armed with a machete, approached the party and, without any provocation, demanded to know what they were talking about. Davis answered that it was none of his business, whereupon the Nicaraguan soldier drew his machete and raised it over Davis, who clasped his arms around the man and finally took away the weapon, threw it upon the ground and went to a house near by.

A companion of the Nicaraguan soldier ran to a cartel and police station and a squad of police and Nicaraguan soldiers surrounded the house, dragged Davis out and beat him brutally over the head and body until he was unconscious.

Within ten minutes the bluejackets of the Marietta, under Ensign Rorschach, were on the spot. Commander Fullam's orders were sharp and decisive.

"Arrest the chief of police and the policemen engaged in the assault, put them in irons and send them aboard ship; arrest the Nicaraguan officers and men engaged in the assault and hold them for orders."

It was thought possible that an attempt would be made to release the soldiers and police captured by the bluejackets, so men were landed from the Paducah to occupy La Laguna and additional men were landed from the Marietta. The Paducah moved to a position fronting the Nicaraguan cartels, while the Marietta covered the cartels in the port.

Commander Fullam, finding that the civil authorities were incapable of maintaining regulations or order, decided to ignore the authorities and recognize the only organized and disciplined force here under Gen. Estrada, commanding the Nicaraguan forces. The Nicaraguan officers and men arrested were delivered to Gen. Estrada, who was advised that they would be held responsible. Notice also was served on the Honduran and Nicaraguan authorities that reparation would be demanded and punishment should be inflicted upon all of the perpetrators of the outrage.

Commander Fullam says if Davis dies the perpetrators will be tried for murder, presumably by court-martial, and the guilty ones hanged at the yard arm in front of the port. The Paducah was ready to sail for Ceiba and Truxillo, but will now remain here for the present.

POWDER BLAST IN CHINA KILLS MANY

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION OF A MAGAZINE AT CANTON.

MORE THAN 100 PERISH

Bodies of Twenty-One Victims Recovered from the Ruins—Scores of Buildings Are Wrecked.

Hong-Kong, May 4.—Very great destruction of life and property was caused at Canton Thursday night by the explosion of a gunpowder magazine. Twenty-one bodies already have been recovered from the ruins. It is feared that at least 100 more are dead. Hundreds of persons were injured.

Fifteen buildings were razed to the ground and over a hundred were seriously wrecked. A section 200 feet long from the massive city wall was thrown down.

The historical nine-storied pagoda escaped with slight injuries.

The officials and staffs of the hospitals are doing their best to succor the sufferers.

In the Shamen suburb, where the foreigners live, a terrific shock was caused by the explosion, but the residents were unharmed.

Roofs Blown Off Mile Away.

Some idea of the force of the explosion may be gathered from the fact that the roofs of houses a mile distant from the exploded magazine were blown off. A number of important Chinese and foreign mercantile establishments were completely demolished.

The bodies recovered from the ruins in the vicinity of the magazine were shockingly mutilated. Many corpses of men and women were without heads.

The officer in charge of the magazine was among those killed, and when his body was recovered a pipe was found clutched in his hand, which suggests the possible cause of the explosion. The financial losses are enormous.

Sixteen Gates Into the City.

The city of Canton is about six miles in circumference and is enclosed by walls about 20 feet thick, and from 25 to 40 feet high. There are 16 gates into the city besides two water gates. The famous nine-storied pagoda, dating from the beginning of the middle ages, is situated in the western part of what is known as the old city. The foreigners reside in the Shamen suburb founded in 1859 on an artificial island on the Honan side of the river. The population of Canton is estimated at about 900,000.

ASKS AID FOR RUSSIANS.

Gov. Deneen Issues Proclamation Concerning a Famine Fund.

Springfield, Ill., May 4.—An appeal for aid for the starving millions in Russia from the people of Illinois was issued Friday by Gov. Deneen in the following proclamation:

"Through a general failure of crops a state of famine exists throughout an extensive territory in the southeastern portion of Russia and many millions of peasants cannot escape starvation unless the outside world comes to their assistance.

"In this emergency an appeal has been made in behalf of the sufferers to the people of Illinois. Such an appeal should meet with a hearty response from our citizens, who are at this time surrounded by an abundance of material blessings.

"A Russian famine relief committee has been organized, of which Charles L. Hutchinson, president of the Corn Exchange National bank, the Rookery, Chicago, has been appointed treasurer. Any funds sent to men at this address will be acknowledged and forwarded as directly as possible for the relief of the stricken people.

"To be most effective contributions must be made at once, as every day's delay means a prolongation of suffering and death of many of the unhappy victims of this terrible scourge. I therefore earnestly urge the citizens of Illinois to make a generous response to this appeal to their humanity and charity."
